Back to School in Hancock County

Last Thursday, students returned to Holy Trinity Catholic School. The school falls under Gov. Tate Reeves' mask mandate which requires teachers and students to wear a mask.

SEA COAST ECHO

Last week, the faculty and staff at Holy Trinity Catholic School welcomed back students to the campus.

The new school year also welcomes a new principal, Patience Clasen.

"Faculty and staff are thrilled to have the school year start on campus," Clasen said. "Our children are important to us. Having them in the classroom, sharing their faith, and being a part of their learning is quite the reward for our teachers. We look forward to an amazing year."

As far as COVID-19 precautions, the school does fall under Gov. Tate Reeves' current mask mandate, which includes students and teachers.

The school also hired additional staff members including Dean of Students Chris Molino and additional custodial staff to sanitize between classes and lunch periods, Clasen said.

Hand sanitizer stations are located outside of each room and all carpet has been removed from the classrooms, Clasen said.

"Specialized high quality air filters will be installed to sanitize the air," she said. "We have modified classes and class schedules to promote social distancing. Procedures for hand washing, classroom interactions, social distancing and more will be discussed and demonstrated in great depth."

The school also has a plan in place should a student or faculty member test positive for COVID-19, Clasen said.

Holy Trinity is now a PK1 through 6th grade school, as the school now accepts one-year-olds.

Distance learning began this week and staff will continue using Google Suite, Google Meet, and Class Dojo to provide instruction from the teachers and allow class interaction for those students who have chosen to learn from home, Clasen said.

Fifth-and sixth-grade teacher Christy Carter said that she is excited to be back for the school year.

"I can't wait to greet my students and interact with them each day," she said.

The Hancock Hawks are eager with anticipation for the hopeful start of the 2020 football season and for justifiable reason. The Hawks will moving into their new fieldhouse in the coming days. And, it is a move that has been anticipated for the past 18 months.

Last Thursday afternoon, Hancock head coach Neil Lollar opened the doors for a sneak peak at the crown jewel of the Hancock athletic program.

Lollar commented, "The coaching staff and faculty at Hancock High School are very fortunate to be able to work for an administration that listens to the suggestions of their employees. We are extremely happy with the progress of the construction despite the hardships caused to many by the virus. In total, we may be behind in construction about one week. GENERAL MANAGER

The city of Diamondhead on Thursday hosted "Envision Diamondhead 2040" to kick off its 20-year comprehensive plan.

"It really is a vision of what you want the city to be," City Manager Michael J. Reso said in his opening remarks Thursday. "Where do we want to be? Where do we want to spend capital dollars for roads and bike lanes and other community projects?"

Part of the master plan, he said, is a "town center," which local legislators were able to appropriate $1.5 million for through Gulf Coast Restoration funds.

"Hopefully, we'll start seeing some survey work … and start seeing some projects (for the town center) come alive," Reso said.

He then introduced

In a separate matter, BWSD Superintendent Sandra Reed gave the board an update on enrollment numbers, distance learning, and COVID-19 safety precautions.

The current enrollment numbers are about 1,500, she said. This year marked the first year the district hosted online registration.

"My best guess is that we're going to start the first day of the school year and be somewhere between 1,600 and 1,700," Reed said.

Last month, the board decided to push the first day of school back to Sept. 8.

Reed said that about 140 students have selected distance learning.

"We seem to have a couple a day that are dropping out of that," she said. "We seem to have one to three a day deciding not to pursue distance learning."

Reed said that the district on Monday hosted a trial run for distance learning and added that "we have a lot of work to do in that area."

Reed said that the Mississippi Department of Education granted a 10-day exception to the 180-day school year.

"So that's only available to school districts that voluntarily pushed their date back and the ones that Gov. Reeves mandated push their year back," Reed said. "In order to continue to pay our teachers, for those extra 10 days, we're going to have to utilize those 10 days for planning and professional development. Honestly, the extra 10 days coupled with the fact that we're not starting until after Labor Day is just an old-fashioned blessing in disguise."

Reed said the district also received its ten temperature scanners and two will be placed in each school.

"Those will be utilized to take everybody that comes in the building temps in the mornings and at lunch," Reed said. "The machine also has the ability to store that data and give it back to you. So you can go to the machine and ask it for Sandra Reed's temp for the last 30 days and it will spit that out for you."

Reed said that the district's staff members are working in the buildings to change the physical landscape to accommodate social distancing.

which we will train all of our athletes. And, it is a top notch facility. We are excited to be able to call it home very soon."

The new 10,000 square foot facility is nestled at the south end of the football stadium. When you walk in the facility, you are greeted by 12 free-weight lifting stations sitting in the middle of the weight room. There are two monitors that display the workout schedule. Off to the right is the head coach's office that connects to an office for the assistant coaches that all have a desk and computer station to review film. Also, there is a projector where the staff can review game film. The coaches dressing room is connected to the office area.

Down the hallway from the coaches locker room, it opens to the players locker room complete with roughly 97 lockers. There is a cubbie area for practice clothes to be washed according to locker number. Behind the cubbie area is the wash room and storage area for uniforms.

The hallway between the locker rooms and the team meeting rooms is the 'Hall of Hawks' complete with college jerseys representing the schools at the next level that former players have played at since Lollar has been on staff. The staff is researching former players to obtain jerseys for where they played. A plaque below the school's jersey will include the names of those former Hawks who played there.

There are two meeting rooms complete with 80-inch Promethean boards to discuss game plans. Down the hallway from the meeting rooms is the training rooms where student-athletes can rehab and get taped. The Hawks maintain four student trainers who work under a certified trainer from Encore.

The construction of the new concession area, restrooms, and ticket gate are coming along as planned and Lollar maintains that construction will be complete by the first home game.

Things are moving at Hancock High School in relation to the bond issue that was implemented a little over a year ago.

The comolete renovation and upgrade of HVAC and ceiling at the high school is basically complete. The fieldhouse is ready to be occupied along with the other improvements to the football stadium. Next up is improved access and lobby area to the basketball gymnasium.

things were different about this school year, such as everyone donning masks, having temperatures taken, and social distancing, excitement still filled the air and smiles filled the hallways. Administrators, teachers and approximately 4,000 students returned to school. Teachers and administrators greeted students with a warm welcome as they arrived for their first day. Prior to the students' return, teachers throughout the district participated in professional development and training on COVID-19 safety procedures and protocol and made preparations for another successful school year.

This year, parents were given the choice of having their child(ren) attend school physically, or thru distance learning. Over 500 students in the district registered for distance learning. This not only allowed parents to choose which option was best for their child and their family, it also reduced the number of students in many classes making it easier to social distance in the classroom. A few days before school started, elementary students and parents received a warm welcome at drive thru Meet and Greet events at each elementary school where students and their parents drove thru, met their teacher and dropped off school supplies prior to the first day of school. The Class of 2024 was welcomed by the high school at 9th grade orientation and the middle school prepared incoming 6th graders through an orientation for students and parents.

Although the car rider drop-off lines were long, all schools in the district reported a smooth start on the first day. Parents were encouraged by HCSD to drop off and pick up students if possible to help with social distancing on buses. School Superintendent, Alan Dedeaux, shared, "Our parents, students, teachers, staff and administrators really stepped up to the plate today. Everything went smooth today and this sets the tone for a successful year of learning, no matter what we face ahead during the school year. Our teachers will be able to establish a relationship with their students and this is very important, especially to our younger students." Teachers are eager to engage their students in meaningful learning experiences allowing them to "Soar to Academic Excellence" in the 2020-2021 school year.

Reeves announces launch of ReSkillMS

SEA COAST ECHO

Gov. Tate Reeves on Wednesday announced the launch of the ReSkill Mississippi initiative (ReSkillMS), a workforce training initiative to aid Mississippi workers and employers burdened by COVID-19.

"While we are in the midst of a public health crisis, we are also fighting this disease on an economic front," Reeves said during Wednesday's press conference. "Hundreds of thousands of Mississippians have been laid off during this pandemic. Countless Mississippi employers are struggling to make ends meet. ReSkill Mississippi is an effort to utilize CARES Act funds to not only get Mississippians back to work, but to get them skills training that will help them work in even better jobs than they may have had before COVID-19."

Mississippians who have lost their jobs, suffered cutbacks, or went on unemployment due to COVID-19 now have the opportunity to receive skills training at Mississippi's community colleges to change jobs into high demand careers, Reeves said.

"Of the $1.25 billion in federal relief funds sent to Mississippi under the CARES Act, the Mississippi legislature appropriated $55 million to support our state's workers and employers," a release from the governor's office states.

ReSkillMS is a result of Reeves' Commission on Economic Recovery's recommendation that "significant" funds from the CARES Act recovery funds be used for workforce training, the release states.

The State Workforce Investment Board, the Mississippi Department of Employment Security, and the state's four local workforce areas worked on ReSkillMS, the release states.

"This program can have a major difference in the lives of Mississippians and in building a stronger economy in our state for the demands of tomorrow's world," SWIB Chairman Patrick Sullivan said. "Skilled jobs were in demand before COVID-19, and they will be in demand long after the pandemic is over. Getting more Mississippians the skills for higher paying jobs is going to be key if we are to see sustained economic growth."

The direct beneficiaries of ReSkillMS will be Mississippians who were furloughed, laid off, experienced economic damages, recipients of unemployment benefits, and employers seeking to hire people immediately and train them on the job.

Employers willing to hire and train people in the workplace are "eligible to reimbursed for up to 75 percent of the individual's wages during the training period. The program requires a minimum fair wage threshold of $15-per-hour for employers to be eligible for reimbursements," the release states.

Mississippians and employers interested in the program can visit www.ReSkillMS.com to complete the a survey. Officials from Mississippi's workforce offices will reach out to people to guide them through the application process.

Bay ready to begin $1.5M revitalization at Depot

BY GEOFF BELCHER
GENERAL MANAGER

The city of Bay St. Louis is moving full-speed ahead on a $1.5 million restoration project at the historic L&N Depot grounds.

"I believe this is going to be the gem of Bay St. Louis," Ward 3 Councilman Rev. Jeffrey Reed said Monday.

The city council voted in July to authorize advertisement for bids for engineering and architectural services for both the Depot revitalization and the new police station.

Both projects will be paid for through money from the Gulf Coast Restoration Fund, which will be administered by the Mississippi development Authority.

"The Old Town Depot District has the potential to be a huge tourist attraction for the city, which made the project a perfect fit for the Gulf Coast Restoration Fund," Mayor Mike Favre said in a press release last month. "It is (my) hope that the grant will be the fire needed to ignite the revitalization of the Old Town Depot District."

The council discussed the project again at its meeting last Tuesday, and Reed and Councilman-at-Large Gary Knoblock updated the other members on the latest developments.

Knoblock said Monday that the Depot revitalization will include a state-of-the-art performance stage with lights; a retractable movie screen; expanded green spaces; a new playground; the relocation of the Alice Moseley Pavilion elsewhere on the grounds; adding a second pavilion near the BSL Community Center to accommodate weddings and other events; improvements to the Depot building, such as roof repairs, door replacement and painting; re-surfacing and widening the street and parking lot; building a handicapped-accessible comfort station; improvements at the duck pond such as LED lighting to create a "light show" and additional park benches and/or tables, as well as fencing to better separate the area from the railroad track; and removal of the palm trees at the Depot, replacing them with live oak trees and moving the palms to the beach areas around the marina, or Washington Street beach area.

Knoblock said there are also plans to close Keller Street and return it to green space to adjoin the community center; create lighted informational kiosks around the grounds; and plant new flowers, bushes and foliage with new signage in front of the Depot building. Local artists will also be asked to participate, contributing artwork around the grounds.

"I think, economically, this is going to revitalize this area, which is underutilized now," Knoblock said. "You have investors like Jim MacPhaille — he's accelerating his plan for a restaurant (and other facilities) over at Depot Row."

"Councilman Reed and I have a pet name for this area now," Hancock County Tourism Director Myrna Green said Monday. "We call it the 'front door' to Bay St. Louis. … "We're thoroughly excited about it and we feel like we're giving our front door a fresh coat of paint and we're opening it up to the world."

"When I was growing up, we used to call this whole area 'the Green,'" Reed said. "To see what's going on today is just continuing it from one generation to the next. It's another thing that makes Bay St. Louis 'A Place Apart.'"

Knoblock said the entire project was the result of planning by a committee, which included Reed and himself, as well as Councilman Gene Hoffman; architects John Anderson, Ed Wikoff and Larry Jaubert; Lonnie Falgout; Regan Kane; Myron Labat; Jim McPhaille; Gary Ponthieux, Sr,; David Reso; and Terry Stolz.

Reed said the work will begin as soon as possible, with an estimated completion date of Labor Day 2021.

In other action:

The board approved the "lowest, best, and most responsive" quote in the amount of $21,500 to Morrealle Construction for the removal of all structures located at 467 Highway 90, the location of the former Travel Inn Express.

The board also approved tasking Compton Engineering in the amount of $13,700 to put a package together to pursue funding through MDEQ to dredge the Idlewood Pond and improve drainage.

The board once again tabled the resolution calling for a special election in relation to an ordinance granting non-exclusive elective franchise to Mississippi Power Company, its successors, and assign a franchise in the city. The current draft order states that Mississippi Power has requested a 25-year franchise ordinance which would provide a three percent payment of Mississippi Power's total revenue from retail sales of electric energy within Waveland or $300 per annum.

The board also tabled the matter at the July 7 and July 22 meetings. At the July 7 meeting, the reason given for tabling was that the city did not have enough information from Mississippi Power to vote on a franchise agreement.

The board recognized Jordan Roberts as July's Employee of the Month.

Smith said the Gulf Regional Planning Commission is preparing a package in an attempt to obtain Restore Act funding for the construction of a marina.

Opinion

The Great Mask Debate of 2020

I'm not even sure why this is such a fierce debate. Sure, I've heard the arguments for and against wearing a mask to protect people from COVID-19.

So far, for me, the reasons to wear one far outweigh the mostly conspiracy theories brought forth to not wear one.

One reason I think the masks are helpful is because last year, after my dad's transplant and quite a while before the pandemic started, my dad wore a mask and we wore masks around him for almost six months. We also cleaned and disinfected all the time.

Staff Column
By Cassandra Favre

He also social distanced before it was cool. His immunity was too fragile to be in public places during the first six months.

Now, it feels like we are back in the early days post-transplant and following every guidance given from his transplant team.

And you know what? When I've told some people that, they look at me like I've grown a second head.

I have some life experience to legitimately back up the reason why I think that wearing a mask might help slow this spread. I just wonder why wearing a mask was helpful for us, and probably other transplants patients, last year and now it's a "violation" of rights and are viewed by some as just useless.

For years, businesses have asked that people wear shirts and shoes in their establishments. I'm still unsure as to why pants aren't included in that request, but I digress.

Surely, wearing a shirt and shoes must be a violation of your rights if wearing a mask is as well. But for many years, people have complied with the shirt and shoes request.

There are also laws about wearing a seatbelt and driving a certain speed limit.

Someone posted a meme that stated that the government is not responsible for their health. Well, by that logic, you should rally against wearing a seatbelt then, since it's designed for a person's health and safety.

By that same logic, one could be led to think that having public safety officers, law enforcement personnel, you know the men and women we trust to keep us safe, would be a violation of our rights to take care of our own health and safety.

In all honesty, the daily conspiracy theories, especially the ones about the chips in vaccines, give me quite the chuckle and the occasional high blood

Wicker: Time to Address Online Censorship

Tech Giants Have Muzzled Conservative Voices

From the Senate
By Sen. Roger Wicker

Our nation has always defended free speech and the right to express different viewpoints. Until recently, it was fair to assume U.S. internet companies were committed to those same rights. But in the last few years, reports have uncovered a disturbing trend of online platforms censoring conservative speech.

In 2018, for example, Twitter was exposed for "shadow banning" prominent conservatives on the platform, meaning their profiles were made difficult for users to find. Some of the more well-known figures who were shadow-banned include Republican Party Chairwoman Ronna McDaniel, former Congressman and current White House Chief of Staff Mark Meadows, and Donald Trump Jr. And just days ago, Facebook and Twitter removed posts from President Trump's accounts, while incendiary statements from Russian President Vladimir Putin and Iran's Ayatollah remain.

Google has also done its share to frustrate conservatives. Recently, Google threatened to block the conservative news site The Federalist from receiving ad revenue because they had not removed certain offensive content in their comment section. The comments may indeed have been derogatory and unacceptable, but it is telling that Google singled out a conservative website for special scrutiny. Google has not applied that same standard to other platforms with comment sections – including YouTube, which Google happens to own.

AMERICANS RECOGNIZE TECH BIAS

Google's selective hostility toward The Federalist revealed what most Americans already believe: that tech companies are politically biased. According to a 2018 Pew study, seven out of 10 Americans believe social media platforms censor political viewpoints that they find objectionable. These concerns are all the more weighty given the immense power that these corporations wield in our society. More and more of our daily business is taking place online, and our dependence upon internet firms is only accelerating with the pandemic.

As we near the 2020 election, Americans have real concerns about whether online platforms will treat campaigns on both sides of the aisle fairly and equally. And these concerns are justified. Americans are right to be worried about interference by powerful tech firms that are increasingly out of touch with mainstream political views.

REFORMS TO PROTECT A DIVERSITY OF VIEWS

Tech companies are able to censor a wide range of content thanks to provisions in the Communications Decency Act. Passed in 1996, this law protects "interactive computer services," like Facebook, from being sued for content posted by their users. It also allows these companies to censor content they consider to be "obscene, lewd, lascivious, filthy, excessively violent, harassing, or otherwise objectionable."

I am concerned that platforms have abused the term "otherwise objectionable" and have

The Dog Days of Summer

Conservation Corner
By James L. Cummins

While growing up in the Mississippi Delta, I was accustomed to hearing the saying that we were in "the dog days of summer." I just knew we were in the hot days of summer. I heard it again and began to wonder what the phrase actually meant. After doing some research, this is what I found.

In ancient times, when the night sky was not obscured by artificial lights and smog, different groups of peoples in different parts of the world drew images in the sky by "connecting the dots" of stars. They saw images of bears (Ursa Major and Ursa Minor), twins (Gemini), a bull (Taurus), and others, including dogs (Canis Major and Canis Minor).

The brightest of the stars in Canis Major (the big dog) is Sirius, which also happens to be the brightest star in the night sky. In fact, it is so bright that the ancient Romans thought that the earth received heat from it.

In the summer, however, Sirius, the "dog star," rises and sets with the sun. During late July Sirius is in conjunction with the sun, and the ancients believed that its heat added to the heat of the sun, creating a stretch of hot and sultry weather. They named this period of time, from 20 days before the conjunction to 20 days after, "dog days" after the "dog star."

The conjunction of Sirius with the sun varies somewhat with latitude. And the "precession of the equinoxes" (a gradual drifting of the constellations over time) means that the constellations today are not in exactly the same place in the sky as they were in ancient Rome. Although it is certainly the warmest period of the summer, the heat is not due to the added radiation from a far-away star, regardless of its brightness. It is a direct result of the earth's tilt. According to The Old Farmer's Almanac, dog days occur during the period between July 3 and August 11. The Merriam-Webster dictionary defines them as "the period between early July and early September when the hot sultry weather of summer usually occurs in the Northern hemisphere."

If you ask some of your friends, you will usually find that many people believe the phrase is in reference to the conspicuous laziness of domesticated dogs (who are in danger of overheating with too much exercise) during the hottest days of the summer. When speaking of "dog days" there seems to be a connotation of lying or "dogging" around, or being "dog tired" on these hot and humid days.

Although these meanings have nothing to do with the original source of the phrase, they may have been attached to the phrase in recent years due to common usage or misunderstanding of the origin of the phrase.

D'head man sentenced to 15 years for possession of child pornography

SEA COAST ECHO

A Diamondhead man was sentenced Wednesday to nearly 15 years in federal prison for possession of what prosecutors called a "massive amount of child pornography."

Senior U.S. District Judge Louis Guirola Jr. on Wednesday sentenced Taryn Goin Naidoo, 41, to 170 months in prison on each of three separate counts of knowingly possessing images of minors engaging in sexually explicit conduct, Acting Asst. Attorney general Brian C. Rabbitt off the Justice Department's Criminal Division, U.S. Attorney Mike Hurst and Acting Special Agent in Charge Gilbert Trill of Homeland Security Investigations in New Orleans said in a press release Thursday.

The sentences will run concurrently, followed by 15 years of supervised release for each charge, also to run concurrently, the judge ruled.

"From July 2017 through October 2018, HSI conducted an investigation with the Hancock County Sheriff's Office and the Diamondhead Police Department which resulted in the seizure and forensic examination of multiple electronic devices found at Naidoo's residence, to include Micro SD cards, laptop computers, notepads or tablets, and hard drives," according to the press release. "The evidence found on the electronic devices and the timeline of that evidence proved Naidoo knowingly possessed over 70,000 images and videos of minors engaging in sexually explicit conduct, to include images of minors under the age of 12."

Taryn Naidoo

Naidoo was first charged in a federal criminal indictment on Sept. 7, 2018, and in a superseding indictment on May 29, 2019, according to the release. He was found guilty in U.S. District Court in Gulfport on Jan. 10 of this year after a five-day trial.

"This case was prosecuted by Assistant U.S. Attorney Andrea Jones and Ralph Paradiso of the Criminal Division's Child Exploitation and Obscenity Section (CEOS)," according to the release. "This case was brought as part of Project Safe Childhood, a nationwide initiative to combat the growing epidemic of child sexual exploitation and abuse launched in May 2006 by the Department of Justice."

NOTICE OF A PUBLIC HEARING
ON THE PROPOSED BUDGET AND PROPOSED TAX LEVIES FOR THE UPCOMING FISCAL YEAR FOR THE CITY OF DIAMONDHEAD MISSISSIPPI

The City of Diamondhead will hold a public hearing on its proposed budget and proposed tax levies for Fiscal Year 2021 on August 18, 2020 at 6:00 p.m. at 5000 Diamondhead Circle, Diamondhead, MS 39525.

The City of Diamondhead is now operating with projected total revenue budget of $7,286,409 of which (45 percent) or $3,270,140 is obtained through ad valorem taxes. For the next fiscal year, the proposed budget has total projected revenue of $5,977,450 of that amount, (49 percent) or $2,923,700 is proposed to be financed through a total ad valorem tax levy.

The decision to decrease ad valorem tax millage rate for Fiscal Year 2021 from the current fiscal year's ad valorem tax millage rate means you will pay less in ad valorem taxes on your home, automobile tag, utilities, business fixtures and equipment and rental real property, unless the assessed value of your property has increased in 2020.

Any citizen of the City of Diamondhead is invited to attend this public hearing and City Council meeting on the proposed budget and tax levies for Fiscal Year 2021 and will be allowed to speak for a reasonable amount of time and offer tangible evidence before any vote is taken.

A millage rate of 29.5 will produce less revenue from ad valorem taxes as was collected for FY20. The millage rate for FY20 was 34.00.

used it to suppress content that they simply disagree with or find distasteful. When Congress passed the law in 1996, the intent was to protect companies when they censor obscene or indecent material – not political views they do not like. If the abuses continue, this law risks negating the values at the heart of our First Amendment.

Given recent cases of censorship, Congress should revisit the Communications Decency Act and make it clear that companies cannot enjoy special immunity from lawsuits if they censor political speech. Recently the Commerce Subcommittee on Communications, Technology, Innovation, and the Internet convened a hearing to consider this issue.

As chairman of the full Commerce Committee, I intend to pursue this matter thoroughly and evaluate what changes are needed to the law. Congress needs to ensure the internet remains a free and open forum where diverse political views can be expressed. Doing so can help preserve our great tradition of free speech in the digital age.

Wicker, Hyde-Smith, Palazzo Announce $30M in Aid for U.S. Shrimp Industry

SEA COAST ECHO

U.S. Senators Roger Wicker, R-Miss., and Cindy Hyde-Smith, R-Miss., and Rep. Steven Palazzo, R-Miss., today announced the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has authorized the purchase of up to $30 million in U.S.-produced shrimp for distribution to community food and nutrition programs nationwide.

The announcement comes after the Mississippi lawmakers sent a letter to USDA Secretary Sonny Perdue requesting that he use his authority to purchase and distribute Gulf seafood to those in need during the coronavirus pandemic. Recently-enacted legislation, including the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES) Act and the Families First Coronavirus Response Act, includes additional support for USDA programs that provide food to distressed communities.

"For the first time ever, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has announced they will be purchasing U.S.-produced shrimp to distribute to communities in need," Wicker said. "At a time when American families and seafood producers alike are suffering from the effects of the coronavirus pandemic, this agreement will provide healthy, high-quality protein for American dinner tables and support the vibrant domestic shrimping industry, which employs thousands of people across the southern United States."

"The Mississippi shrimp industry will have an opportunity to sell its product to the USDA for use by food banks and nonprofit organizations helping communities hit hard by this ongoing pandemic. Adding shrimp to the list of commonly purchased foods under the USDA Section 32 Program will help address supply chain disruptions and overall demand challenges associated with COVID-19. I'm grateful to Secretary Perdue for recognizing how this purchase decision will help an important Gulf Coast industry and those in need," said Hyde-Smith, who serves on the Senate Agriculture Committee and the Senate Agriculture Appropriations Subcommittee.

The $30 million purchase is expected to have a positive impact for Mississippi shrimp producers and processors. Much of the nation's shrimp is caught in the Gulf of Mexico and processed for domestic consumption, which has seen sharp drops because of restaurant closures during the coronavirus pandemic.

"Mississippi's shrimp industry has been hit hard by COVID19, with many vessels having to stay tied to the dock due to collapsing markets. We are glad to hear the USDA is stepping up purchases of Gulf shrimp and applaud the hard work of our Congressional delegation to make it happen," said Ryan Bradley, Executive Director of Mississippi Commercial Fisheries United.

"This is a win-win, a huge victory for both the American consumer and the wild-caught American shrimp fisherman. The shrimp industry will see much needed inventory relief and the American public will have access to fresh seafood with great health benefits. We thank Senator Wicker and the Mississippi congressional delegation for their efforts," said Dr. C. David Veal, Executive Director of the American Shrimp Processors Association.

The purchase is authorized under Section 32 of the Agriculture Act of 1953. "Section 32 purchases" are provided to USDA's Food and Nutrition Service nutrition assistance programs, including food banks that operate The Emergency Food Assistance Program.

The Section 32 shrimp purchase is the latest significant action of importance to Mississippi. In May, the USDA agreed to purchase $30 million in farm-raised catfish products for distribution to food banks and community support programs.

At birth, we are all given a unique social security number, something to track us by. We have drivers license numbers, license plate numbers for our cars, tax ID numbers, etc. If they want to find us and or listen in, they will.

We willingly bring the newest electronics into our homes. Cellphones, SmartTVs, Siri, or Alexa, just to name a few. I only have a cellphone and a computer at home.

I can just think about a product and a few hours later, I'll see an ad for that same product pop up in my Facebook feed. Every month, GoogleMaps, which is installed on my phone, sends me a monthly summary of where I've been, not just the places I've looked up directions to, but everywhere I've traveled with my phone. Spooky, right?

Besides, after this pandemic is over, people are still going to have to wear shirts, shoes, seat belts and do all the other things we've been told to do.

I also empathize with people who truly have a medical condition or a diagnosed behavioral condition who find it difficult to wear a mask. I would also hope that someone with said medical condition preventing them from wearing a mask is taking extra precautions and spending less time in public spaces.

I don't know if we will ever find some common ground on this mask debate. So many people are firmly stuck in their opinions on the matter, no matter which way it swings.

As for me, I wear my mask for people like my dad. People who if they did catch COVID-19 may not survive it. He waited six years for a new chance at life. It would also seem like we were not honoring his donor and the donor family if we acted irresponsibly.

The way I see it is that I would rather err on the side on the caution than not.

I want this pandemic to be over. I'm sure lots of people around the world do. But fighting with each other gets us nowhere.

DO YOU WANT CHEESE ON YOUR CHEESEBURGER?

By GARY ANDREWS

Every now and then all of us say things that really make no sense, but on the other hand, makes perfect sense to the one being spoken to. Such was the case when my daughter-in-law asked her son if he wanted cheese on his cheeseburger. We were at a fast food place and were ordering something to eat. I picked up on the question and even though I gave her a hard time about it, what she said made perfect sense to my four year old grandson.

In our everyday life we are going to hear people say things that really make no sense at all to us. During our Christian witness to someone many of us will say accept Jesus as your Savior and He will forgive you of all your sins. This is true but we fail to tell them that once you do this you will quit thinking of worldly desires and start thinking of Christian values. I have heard on many occasions people use the words small sins when someone has done something wrong or ask for directions in an action.

We all need to realize there is no such thing as a small sin or a big sin. According to Jesus sin is sin. The severity of it may reap different consequences from those of us that know about it, however God judges sin as sin and it doesn't matter what we think about it. This doesn't mean we can't be forgiven our sins, because we can. When we sin we are burdened in our heart to the point that we fall on our knees and ask the Lord God to forgive us again. I have done this many times because there is no human being that is not going to sin. All of us fall short and do this on many occasions.

All of us need to remember that we accept Christ to lead us and guide us, not just for protection from hell. Yes, He will keep us from hell however we are to stayed tuned into Jesus, talk and walk with Him in our daily lives. We are not to sin intentionally, even though many people will tell you it is a small sin and that it won't be held against you. Wrong, sin is sin!

James 2:10 tells us, "For whoever shall keep the whole law, and yet stumble in one point, he is guilty of all." This lets us know that sin is sin and there is not a big or little sin. Many of us will tell or lead someone to sin because we might say to them, "there is nothing wrong with a little white lie, etc." People take us literally when we say things unless we happen to be a party not in the conversation and mistake what is being said.

My grandson knew exactly what his mom was saying when she asked him if he wanted cheese on his cheeseburger. He calls all burgers cheeseburgers and even though I didn't understand it at the time, I do now. She understood what he was asking for and wanted to clarify that she was ordering the correct burger for him.

For us to hear someone tell people that a little sin will not hurt them, may misinterpret what the conversation is about or do not understand the entire conversation. Surely one Christian speaking with someone about sins will tell them that all people have sin and come short of the glory of God; however that Jesus is in the forgiving business if we will talk with Him and ask for forgiveness.

Prayer: Lord, forgive me all of my sins and help me lead someone to you. Amen.

Notice and Public Explanation of a Proposed Activity in the 100-Year Floodplain
To: All Interested Agencies, Groups, and Individuals
SUBJECT: Notice of intent to take action within the 100-year floodplain
This document gives notice that the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission is proposing to conduct activities within the 100-year floodplain, as identified on Flood Insurance Rate Maps (FIRMs) for Hancock County, to facilitate the Port Bienville Industrial Park (PBIP) Trans-Loading Terminal Facility Project. The purpose of the proposed activity is to provide construction of a rail line extension, dock installation, and other associated amenities for PBIP. The project site is located at PBIP in Pearlington, Hancock County, Mississippi. It is located approximately 1.34 miles south-southeast of Chef Menteur Highway (U.S. Highway 90), north of Port and Harbor Drive and west of Road G. The Port Bienville Industrial Canal is adjacent to the north of the project site.
The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission is requesting the use of U.S. Department of the Treasury Resources and Ecosystems Sustainability, Tourist Opportunities, and Revived Economies (RESTORE) Act entitlement funding for the referenced project. In deciding whether to fund the proposed project, U.S. Department of the Treasury is obligated to follow requirements set forth by Section 2(a)(4) of Executive Order 11988 for Floodplain Management. This Notice of Proposed Intent is being provided in fulfillment of the aforementioned Executive Order. The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission has conducted an evaluation as required by Executive Order 11988 to determine the potential effect that its activity in the floodplain will have on the environment.
The proposed activity is intended to occur in Pearlington, Hancock County, Mississippi, within the 100-year floodplain as determined from Flood Insurance Rate Map (FIRM) Community Panels 28045C0402D and 28045C0406D (dated October 16, 2009). Activities at that area would have minimal impacts on the floodplain beyond those that currently exist.
In response to the requirement for evaluating alternatives to building/mitigating projects in the floodplain (24 CFR 58.40(e), Ref. 40 CFR 1508.9), the alternatives considered included relocating the proposed activity to an alternate site and no action.
Alternate Site Alternative
Alternative site locations were not practicable because the objective of the project is to provide a rail line extension, dock installation, and other associated amenities for PBIP, which would be constructed at PBIP on land owned by the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission. PBIP is an industrial port and product facility in Pearlington, Mississippi and serves as an import/export for various industrial products. Approximately 32% of the total area of Kiln is located within the 100-year floodplain, and all the waterfront areas are in the 100-year floodplain. Adjacent appropriate sites are currently undeveloped and would have a larger impact to the floodplain and other natural resources. Therefore, the alternate site alternative was rejected.
No Action Alternative
The adoption of the No Action alternative is a decision not to provide a rail line extension, dock installation, and other associated amenities for the referenced project, thereby languishing the growing need for industrial production and export within PBIP and Hancock County.
Proposed Action Alternative
The objective of the project is to provide construction of a rail line extension, dock installation, and other associated amenities for the PBIP Trans-Loading Terminal Facility Completion Project, which would be constructed at PBIP on land owned by the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission.
This notice is being submitted to the Mississippi Emergency Management Agency, Federal Emergency Management Agency, US Army Corps of Engineers, US Environmental Protection Agency and Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality.
Members of the public are invited to submit comments on the proposed activity. Additional information on the proposed activity is available to the public between the hours of 8:00 am and 5:00 pm, Monday through Friday at the following location:

• PLAN

Bob Barber of Orion Planning and Design, which will craft the 20-year comprehensive plan with community input.

"The purpose of our meeting (tonight) is to open the conversation in the planning process …," Barber said. "Everything in your community, and any community, is connected. The economy is integrally connected to the natural environment, connected to the way mobility systems work, which is connected to the way land is used and how things are developed. It's all connected, so we come at it with the idea of a holistic approach (so that we can) understand the various systems that make up Diamondhead and what makes Diamondhead tick."

And while everything is connected, he said, "a corollary — a companion to that idea — is that communities have life cycles. They're born, they grow, they plateau and mature and then they decline, and there are certain points along the way in which it's very important that a community think about where it is in its life cycle and what's coming up next and how it will handle it's future."

Barber said Diamondhead is unique, since most communities sort of grow naturally over the course of several years, but "Diamondhead was created in an instant" as a planned community.

However, he said, now is the time to plan the next step in the city's growth.

He said Orion approaches comprehensive planning with a five-step process.

Step one is starting out with discovery - "We want to know Diamondhead," he said, which was part of the meeting on Thursday. Step 2 is engaging the community, he said. Step 3 is plan creation; step 4 is implementation of the plan; and step 5 is follow-up to make sure the plan is working.

The age of COVID-19 has changed the way planners now seek community input, Barber said.

Normally, he said, there would be a table at the meeting with maps and drawings, and everybody would look over the materials and make comments.

However, he said, due to social distancing, "that exercise, we have transferred to an Internet-based system so you can use your cell phone to do it."

Barber asked the 40-plus members of the audience and those watching the live stream from home to participate in real time, commenting online about the things they like about Diamondhead and areas where they may have concerns.

The "likes" residents shared included the city's natural beauty, live oaks, waterfront and water activities, the airport and golf courses.

Some of the areas of concern people shared included the need for more shopping, entertainment, restaurants, motels and safety for biking and walking.

Barber invited people to continue to comment on the website, www.envisiondiamondhead2040.com, and said his team would be back for another live meeting with residents in the last week of September.

"This is a time for our residents to get involved," Reso said on social media after the meeting. " It is time to participate and have your voices heard. This is an opportunity for every resident in the city to contribute. We need to hear from you.

"This is a critical document for our community. It creates the vision for the future based on residents' input. It directs the future land use for zoning, ordinances, mobility, capital projects (i.e. roads, drainage, buildings, and other infrastructure needs). A plan of action will be developed and implemented over time to achieve the vision that our residents have imagined through this year-long process."

You can view the meeting in its entirety at https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=4sCz4Za-6GiU.

Reso said residents can sign up for a newsletter from Orion Planning & Design at www.envisiondiamondhead2040.com, as well as get engaged and share thoughts and ideas for the city's future on the site.

Where Are They Now - Brittney and Victoria Nutting

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

At left, Victoria Nutting at a hospital in Fort Walton Beach, Florida, during her hospital training curriculum for medical school. At right, Brittany Nutting outside the United States Olympic Committee headquarters.

It has been a decade since twin sisters, Brittany and Victoria Nutting, were 'Queens of the Court' in volleyball in Hancock County. A lot has changed since they garnered All-State honors, led Hancock to the program's first Class III state championship, and Victoria was named Gatorade Player of the Year in Mississippi. Not to mention, both were outstanding in the classroom despite late hours of practice and competition.

The Nuttings both attended Texas A&M University where they continued their affiliation with volleyball working with the school's squad doing whatever was asked of them from filming practice, breaking down opponent film, performing metrics analysis for patterns and weaknesses, among many other duties.

Both of them graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree in Exercise Physiology from Texas A&M. Later, Victoria earned a Master of Science degree in Medical Sciences from the University of North Texas while Brittany earned a Master of Public Health in Epidemiology from the University of Texas.

Victoria has since turned her attention to medical school where she is entering her fourth year at Auburn University. Brittany entered the workforce and is employed with the United States Olympic Paralympic Committee in Colorado Springs.

The sport of volleyball, and sports in general, halve had a lasting impact on the Nuttings and how they have taken on life following high school.

Victoria commented, "All of medicine is a team effort. Everyone involved with a patient work towards a common goal. What I learned on the volleyball court early on with regards to teamwork laid a foundation that I carry with me today in my soon-to-be professional career."

Brittany continues to work with the very best athletes that the country produces. She stated, "At Team USA, we pursue excellence in every aspect. We hold ourselves to a high standard and we model that to all athletes. Those are key traits we learned early on in volleyball that still echo today with what we do which is to do the best job possible."

Sports teach leadership, teamwork, effort, and attitude. Anyone who has ever played a down, hit a kill shot, or swung a bat can attest to that. Those memories of days gone by and lessons learned remain with us throughout our lives.

Brittany stated, "Winning a state championship would be the easy answer to share when I talk about great memories. And, it is a great memory. But, what has stuck with me was all the hours spent in a gym training to be the best, the rides on a bus to take on an opponent, or just the time spent with teammates in any setting. Those are the times you bond and really become close with someone."

Victoria added, "I agree with Brittany's assessment. It is not just one great memory because memories were made each day at practice or on every serve in a match. It would be unfair to limit it to just one great memory because they all build on each other to get to the penultimate position."

In a time when sports were taken from youth and fan alike, we all simply want it to come back to normal. But, will it?

Brittany commented, "During this time we are living in, I remember one thing my middle school basketball coach told us that I would share with any young athlete today - 'Don't cheat the drill'. If you cheat one time, it us easier to cheat again. Then, before you know it you are looking for the easy way out with everything. Doing things the right way and completely makes us a better society."

Victoria added, "Every experience is fleeting so I would ask young athletes today to cherish the time they have on the court, in the field, with their teammates. We know now what it feels like to have it taken away. Hard work and commitment are the only ingredients to success. Sports are a great example of that. Nobody wins a state title without hard work."

The virus has taken away time from not only the young athlete but the professional athlete, as well as, the fans. We are aching for an outlet.

Victoria ended, "Of all the demographics out there hurting from this pandemic, the most hurt are the youth. This time in their lives is a key time of development - physically, socially, psychologically, etc. The pandemic has taken that outlet of learning away. We need to get back to doing what we used to do because our youth, the future, is missing out on development in so many aspects."

Brittany ended, "Team USA us moving forward with the hope that Tokyo 2020 will happen in 2021. The athletes have endured monumental changes with regard to the virus but Team USA is trying to get the athletes back to a normal setting as quickly as possible."

Brittany and Victoria Nutting spent countless hours at the gym perfecting their game, leading their team, and learning how to do the best job possible. This is what athletes learn. This is how they succeed. Let's hope this time away from the fields and courts of play have not hindered proper growth and development of our future leaders.

The Our Lady Academy Crescents volleyball program witnessed the setting of a star in head coach Mike Meyers this past spring. However, OLA did not have to look far for a successor having named Emily Meyers Corley head volleyball coach for the 2020-21 school year. Corley is in her second year as Athletic Director at OLA and previously served six seasons under her father, Mike Meyers, as the junior varsity coach.

Corley takes over an OLA volleyball squad that she played on under her father, Mike, who spent the past 20 seasons as head coach.

Corley, a 2002 graduate of OLA, excelled in volleyball, soccer and softball while on campus as a Crescent and earned the Hull Award as the school's best all-around student-athlete.

Following her time at OLA, Corley signed to play soccer at Mississippi State University where she played four seasons for the Lady Bulldogs.

Corley stated, "I am very excited to take over as the head coach of the OLA volleyball program. This program has been a big part of my life for many years as a player and a coach. When my dad retired, I realized I had the opportunity to step in and keep the traditions alive and the program running like it has for the past 20 years. We have a great group of girls on our team this year. They have been working hard this summer and are looking forward to playing this season."

Emily Meyers Corley.

Corley takes over a program that her father built into a dynasty over 20 seasons at the helm. The Crescents have won 20 consecutive division titles, played in 17 state finals, and won 14 state volleyball championships including the last eight in a row.

Corley is married to Saint Stanislaus head baseball coach Brad Corley and they have two sons, Tucker and Tanner.

DWGAN Golfing News from June 2020

We now have spent more than three months fighting an unseen enemy called the COVID-19 virus. We still have been able to play golf whenever Southern Mississippi Gulf Coast summer weather permits as long as we take some precautions. We continue to stay 6ft. apart and whenever possible wear face masks. Actually these precautions are a small price to pay to keep from spreading this awful virus.

On Tuesday, June 2nd, 31 gals showed up to play in a traditional Scramble. We played the front nine of the Cardinal Course. We had a 3-way tie for First Place. The following three teams all entered a score of 38: Sylvia Corbin, Toni Rossol & Ghost; Ann Nutting, Cheral Saak, Nancy Sislow and Carol Wyrosdick; and finally, Kathy Jones, Barbara Linville, Therese Mauterer and Rachel Stewart. Nancy Sislow had a Chip-In on Hole #3 and Judy Tauzin had one on Hole #8.

Our play on Tuesday, June 9th, had to be cancelled due to heavy rains that descended on us both Monday and Tuesday.

Although it was not the first Tuesday of the month, we decided to play a "Trophy Day" format since it has been a while since we played that format. Twenty-four gals signed up to play. And, our winners were: Low Gross = Flight #1 - Therese Mauterer, Flight #2 - Sandy Merdinyan, Flight #3 - Rachel Steward and Black Flight - Carol Wyrosdick. Low Net = Flight #1 - Toni Rossol, Flight #2 - Marlene Gossard, Flight #3 - Jerry Ingraham and Black Flight - Lenna Weisenhorn. Low Putts = 1st Flight - Toni Rossol (12), 2nd Flight - Sandy Merdinyan (16), 3rd Flight - Judi Brannan (16) and Black Flight - Carol Wyrosdick (13). Longest Drive = Flight #1 - Therese Mauterer, Flight #2 - Susie Fontenot, Fight #3 - Rachel Stewart, and Black Flight - Mary Craig. Closest to the Pin honors went to: Flight #1 - Therese Mauterer, Flight #2 - Fran Smith, Flight #3 - Marsha Roberts and Black Flight - Carol Wyrosdick. Ruthie O'Neill and Toni Rossol had Chip-Ins and Therese Mauterer had a Birdie on Hole #4. Sure looks like Therese and Carol W had a banner and profitable day.

On Tuesday, June 23rd, we played a Two-Person Alternate Shot game. We were blessed with beautiful weather and great course conditions. What more could we ask for. In this format each member of the two-person team tees of on the first hole they play. After that each player plays the alternate shot. We played the back nine holes of the Pine Course. For Low Gross the 1st Place winning team consisted of Dinah Knobloch and Pat Vandervort. There was a tie for 2nd Place with both teams (Mary Mizell/Diana Moore) and (Therese Mauterer/Lenna Weisenhorn) scoring 57. When it came to First Place Low Net - there was a 2-Way Tie with teams (Jerri Harris /Jerry Ingraham) and (Marsha Roberts/Fran Smith) each scoring 40. And, yet a 3-way tie for Second Place Low Net: All three of these teams scored 41: (Sue Hebert/Kathy Jones), (Sylvia Corban/Nancy Sislow) and (Shirley Halterman/Rachel Stewart).

The final Tuesday in June on the 30th we played a Shamble. Winners were based on net scores (handicaps were applied) with everyone teeing off from the Red Tees and the winners were: First Place Team: w/Net Score of 10 strokes under par = Sue Hebert, Jerry Ingraham, Dinah Knobloch and Toni Rossol. Second Place Team: w/Net Score of -9 strokes under par = Marlene Gossard, Kathy Jones, Diana Moore and Carol Wyrosdick. And finally, the Third Place Team: w/Net Score of -6 strokes under par = Judith Brannan, Therese Mauterer, Rachael Stewart and a Ghost. Also, Toni Rossol had Birdie on #4 while Therese Mauterer scored a Chip-In on #9. We also competed for who could score the least Putts. There was a 3-way Tie for this honor with Dinah Knobloch, Betsy Lyons and Mary Murray each posting only 15 Putts. Good job gals.

We look forward to more fun golfing in July when we hope to play our two-day Electic Tournament. In the meantime, stay vigilant and safe and hug your loved ones even if it must be from a distance.
